“ I fondly remember Dan and his great sense of humor... We were enrolled in a Spanish course at Napa Valley College and the topic of our class assignment was, "God, please forgive me.." Dan wrote his plea for forgiveness for removing the tags of his pillows. This was such a funny and simple thing to write about that as classmates, we were all wondering why we didn't think of this great idea to write about!

Dan had a great sense of humor and was a really nice person. I will always remember his great smile and friendly way of being himself.
